

HIDC: High Incidence Disabilities in Higher Education International Conference--March 30 and 31, 2022.

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

The Assessment and Resource Centres of Ontario (ARC's: RARC and NOARC) are very excited to bring you another High Incidence Disabilities Conference. The virtual, two day event (March 30 and 31, 2022) will include several well respected and prominent keynote speakers in the fields of mental health, learning disabilities, and ADHD as well as breakout workshops from other field experts.

The conference will highlight the transition to and life in post-secondary education for students with disabilities including a focus on mental health.

The ARC's welcome proposals for breakout workshop sessions (45 min-1.5 hours in length) on topics relevant to individuals with disabilities transitioning to or who are currently in post-secondary education. The committee is keenly interested in receiving proposals aimed at remediation, accommodation, and treatment of mental health as well as neurodevelopmental disorders.

Submission guidelines

1. Submissions are due by midnight Wednesday December 1, 2021.
2. All submissions are to be made on the online portal contained on the conference website: on.conferize.com/hidc/2022
3. All submissions must contain:
 - a. The name and contact information for presenters, along with credentials and affiliations.
 - b. Workshop title and preferred length (45 minutes/1.5 hours)
 - c. Topic Stream/Tags identified (transition to post-secondary, mental health, accommodation, remediation, neurodevelopmental disorder, post-secondary, addiction (eg. Marijuana, alcohol, technology), anxiety, depression, psychiatric disorders, adhd, ld, autism spectrum disorder)
 - d. A 300 word (maximum) abstract outlining the goals, conclusions/take-home points and methodology (lecture, discussion, demonstration, etc).
 - e. Identification of preferred presentation date (March 30/31).
4. The ARC committee will evaluate all entries and all who submitted proposals will be notified of the decision in writing by Friday December 10, 2021.